MED. and DENTS. FRESHMEN DINE

McGill Baby Class Spend Enjoyable Evening.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon it appears that the Med. and Dental freshmen were booked for a surprise, for their betters the honorable sophs had planned to have them spend an enjoyable evening at their own expence. The festivities begun by tying up about 75 members of McGill's Baby Class as they departed from the Physics' Building, from here they were marched up to the stadium where they were registered as members of the great unwashed.

After this act was duly recorded in the annuals of the sophs and each member of the younger clan had received his number, they were marched up to the good old house behind the stadium which most students have visited during their freshmen days. Here supper was served to the hungry freshies at the minimum price of 25c, the menu consisted dough-nuts, coffee and sandwishes if one could obtain the dainty morsels.

The banquet being concluded the next item on the programme of the evening were the tar and feathers. Here came the first hitch on the sophs part, for the tar was too hard to serve the required purpose therefore a suitable substitute was procured, in the famous LaPage Glue although somewhat more expensive than tar due the fact that it has won some sixteen medal at various expositions in London and Paris for its sticking powers. Feathers were used so as to make the punishment as light as possible. Being a custom at most banquets or receptions to have speeches after the eats Mr. Quackenbush president of the freshman year made a speech, in which he thanked his betters for the kind reception that had been tendered to his year. After a couple of songs were sung by some of the infants, the McGill yell terminated the memorable meeting.

A THING OR TWO FOR YOU TO THINK OF

Are You Sure You Know About

THE S. C. A.

Or Are Your Impressions Based on Prejudice?

The S. C. A. financial drive which comes off during the first few days of next week is of an importance to the students that can hardly be exaggerated.

There are many undergraduates who, when approached in connection with the S. C. A. merely shrug their shoulders and say the association has nothing to do with them. Either they have utterly no information upon the subject of the S. C. A., or such information as they may have is unfounded on fact.

The Students' Christian Association exists to promote things at college that other people are too busy or too indifferent to attend to, but which are vital. If the office of the Association in Strathcona Hall did not keep a complete list of all undergraduates with their addresses in town; and did not answer hundred of questions a month in this connection, who would? If the Hall did not find rooms for at least a thousand incoming men in the fall, who else would bother to do so? Unless the Freshmen receptions were held, and the conversats, both activities of the S. C. A., how would Freshmen be sure of meeting other than a very few men, those who happen to sit next them in lectures? Would any other organization without a permanent staff such as that of the Hall be able to keep alive these branches of student life which all undergraduates use, and for which only too few of them ever show any gratitude.

A PRACTICE IS HELD BY THE ROOTERS

Thundering Thousand Were All Out

1 P.M. TO-DAY

Meet on the Campus and Bring Your Caps.

Yesterday afternoon at 5.15, the rooters held a bang-up meeting in the ballroom of the Union. "Teedles" Thomson and Joe Wain were both on deck, assisted by Fisk, who is to be one of the cheer leaders at today's game.

The meeting started off with a good old McGill yell, which was shouted with customary vim. The rooters then tried to conquer the war cry of the men from the Limestone City. This Gaelic conglomeration of words provided some difficulty. After two or htree tries, the Quene's yell was given well enough to satisfy Wain, and with a few more roars the rooting part of the meeting was over.

The rooters then lined up in single rows in front of two of the doors, and bought their tickets as they passed out. The formation of the rooters into single file was not accomplished without much difficulty, and the proceedings were livened by a fist fight between two members of the student body, and refereed by the well known scrapper, Brewer.

Finally, all who attended the meeting managed to get tickets, but those who waited outside, in hopes of getting them, were disappointed.

The rooters will meet on the campus at one o'clock to-morrow. A man will be on hand to sell balloons at ten cents apiece. Every student should take advantage of this sacrifice in price and buy one. These will be sent up at half time, and we want to see lots go up.

Queens are sending up their best team in years. They have already proved their ability by beating both Parkdale and Varsity. McGill will have a hard battle to-day, and it is the duty of every student to be at the Stadium and to root as hard as they know how. The team must have good support behind it if they are to win, so everybody out on the campus at one o'clock, and be sure to wear your rooters' cap.

COSMOPOLITONS WILL MEET SOON

Large Number of Foreign Students at University

The attention of students at McGill other than Canadian and U. S. citizens are directed to the fact that there exists a club for their benefit.

The Cosmopolitan Club formed two years ago aims to function as other clubs of a similar nature do in other Universities.

The Club aims at bringing together students of other nationalities to enjoy a social hour together and participate in activities similar to the other social clubs of the University.

The executive is trying to get in touch with the students of the various distant countries at the University. But if such students be overlooked they are urgently requested to be present at the first general meeting to be held at Strathcona Hall on the 27th inst. Those who attend will be repaid by a very enjoyable social evening.

Any information regarding the club required by students interested may be obtained at the Hall from Mr. McKay.,

It is hoped by the executive that all eligible members of the University will turn out so as to make this club as great a success as possible.

MONTREAL, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1921.

THE GAME.

McGill and Queens battle for victory this afternoon, and except for the absence of the 3,000 and mireg raduates who attended cept for the absence of the 3,000 mire and graduates who attended the same widespread attention. Both teams have worked strenuously during the week, and deserve credit for their toil in the mud of the wet days.

Queen's showing against Parkdale, and above all against 'Varsity, gives them a good chance to clinch the championship, which they have not held since 1904, seventeen years ago; almost before some of the present players were born. She has not defeated Toronto for thirteen years, and McGill has withstood all her efforts since 1913. But this year the Kingston University men are out in earnest. They have always displayed splendid sportsmanship, and have remained in the intercollegiate after others would have left it in despair.

They have emerged, at least for this season, from their obscure position, and it will take hard playing on the part of McGill to win. In previous years a game with Queen's elicited little interest, as it was thought a foregone conclusion that they would meet with defeat.

The McGill team has undergone a number of changes, which have been carefully made by Coach Shaughnessy. Last week we merely tied with a team which was beaten by Queen's, but McGill should, and must, win to-day. The result may be a conclusive factor in the league race of 1921, and after its loss last year, and especially since this is Centennial year, a victory for McGill would be most opportune.

The Intercollegiate good feeling was well demonstrated last Saturday, when not one discordant note marred the game, and it is hoped that, however the issue goes to-day, the same friendly spirit will permeate throughout.

KNOW THYSELF.

How many students actually enter the portals of the University with a fixed purpose, and with the determination to battle their way through all difficulties to a successful college career? Large numbers register from the prep. schools every autumn, but out of say twenty-five who come from a certain school, the number who eventually graduate, could be counted on one hand. In certain cases the reason for this may be financial, domestic or otherwise, but the frequent cause is lack of will power "to see the thing through."

Students come to college from various motives. Some because their parents or guardians desire them to do so, or because they think it is the proper thing. A number attend because they imagine they will have a good time, either in athletics or in the varied social activities attendant upon a student's career.

The paramount value of college which is often lost sight of, is to turn out well-trained men and women who will be a credit to the country, the Alma Mater, and themselves.

Before taking a definite course thorough inquiries should be made from professors and older students, and the novice should try to decide for himself, or herself, for what he or she is best suited. Changing from one faculty to another, or from one course to another, has been quite prevalent this year. Sometimes it takes until Christmas or until a whole session is passed to know whether it is a case of a square peg in a round hole. In general this is unwise, causing the loss of a year, and what is more significant, loss of purpose, resulting in abject failure as a student.

WELL DONE — TRACK.

For another season the trophy emblematic of the Intercollegiate Track Championship remains at McGill. The discrepancy in the number of points gained by the two leading teams is, in reality, misleading, for the loss of all the places in any event by McGill would have given the victory to their doughty opponents from Toronto.

It was a hard and close battle, fought under very unfavorable conditions, both of weather and track. But the reward has come in the end to that little group of athletes, who, days before the present session had commenced, were fitting themselves by diligent practice to uphold the athletic prowess of McGill.

OSLER SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Papers by Mr. A. K. Geddes and Mr. H. V. Ward

The first regular meeting of the Osler Society was held at the home of Prof. Whitnall, 323 Peel Street on Wednesday evening.

The first part of the evening was devoted to the transaction of the regular business of the society, after which the programme of the evening was carried out.

Two papers dealing with Sir William Osler, were read, one by Mr. A. K. Geddes, who spoke of his medical work, and the other by Mr. H. V. Ward, who dealt especially with his literary work.

Mr. Geddes dwelt at some length on the qualities which made Osler's "Principles and Practice of Medicine" the greatest medical text book the world has ever known. He spoke also of the great number of essays and case reports which had come from Osler's prolific pen.

Mr. Ward, in speaking of Sir William's purely literary works, emphasized the importance of their philosophy and their great contribution to the literature of medical ethics. Nowhere was the worth of Osler's well-read library better mirrored than in his essays.

Professor Whitnall gave a short talk on the contents and arrangement of the library of 8,000 volumes, which Osler bequeathed to McGill, and which will probably reach Montreal some time next summer.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the society on November 1st.

The programme will consist of two papers, one by Mr. C. N. Ramsay, dealing with "Periods and Masters in Medicine," and the other by Mr. C. A. McIntosh, "The Study of Medical History."

McGill University,
Montreal, P. Q.
Oct. 20th '21.

Editor,
McGill Daily.
Sir:—

The handful of students present at the Annual Meeting of the Students Society yesterday was lamentable, and clearly shows that there is a general lack of interest on the part of the undergraduate body in the conduct of their affairs. When one considers that, out of the total registration, only six per cent were sufficiently alive to their duties as undergraduates to attend that meeting, one cannot but conclude that there is something seriously wrong. The immediate result of this apathy is the discouragement of our various Executive,— a few hard worked men who, at much personal sacrifice, are trying to keep alive our student activities, and this is bound to lead to more serious trouble which will undoubtedly be felt by every student.

Now, Sir, what is the cause of this erious condition of affairs? Does the ault lie with the students themselves, or with our present method of student government? Probably "much might be said on both sides." Undoubtedly every student should feel it his duty to show some active interest in the conduct of student activities, but is he given adequate opportunity? For instance, the average man feels that it is not much use to attend a meeting of the Student Society and listen to lengthy financial statements and reports, because, whether he agrees or not, the money has been spent and there is an end to it. He feels that such meetings are called not to consult the wishes of the students on the present and future conduct of their affairs, but merely to obtain their sanction of what has already been done. This should not be.

If every undergraduate could be made to feel that he is personally responsible for the success or failure of our activities, and that he has some say in what is being done, —then the present difficulties could no longer exist. How can this be accomplished? Opinions o this point will probably differ, but I would like to offer the following suggestions:

(1) Open meetings of the Students Council at least once monthly, —same to be advertised in the Daily and the agenda stated. We would thus be kept in touch with the current problems of the Council, and could obtain information on any points desired.

(2) Active election campaigns by candidates for the various offices. Candidates should become thoroughly informed on our methods of student government, formulate their policies, and address meetings of undergraduates. In this way the average student will hear the pros and cons of the various problems, and when casting his vote will at least have seen the man he is voting for. Also the successful candidate will be ready to commence work as soon as he takes office, and not have to spend valuable time making enquiries regarding his duties etc., as at present.

(3) The publication by the Council of a brief pamphlet containing sufficient extracts from the Constitutions to show how the various Executives are made up, their authority, etc., —also a brief statement of the various sources of revenue of the Council. This pamphlet could be handed each student on registration,, and such errors as a Freshman Class trying to nominate a candidate for Faculty Representative on the Council, avoided.

(4) The presentation of estimates of expenditures, for the ensuing college year, to the Annual Meeting of the Students Society in October. At present, I understand each Club gives an estimate of expenses to the Council, and grants are made. If these estimates were discussed and passed by the Society, each student would feel that he has had a say in the spending of its funds.

This letter is not intended to be a criticism of the present administration,— it is merely an attempt to get at the cause of the present indifference, and suggest a possible remedy. The above autocracy, or that the individual stu- improve existing conditions, and would, at least, give no one any cause to say that our student government inclines to autocracyl, or that the individual student isn't given an opportunity to participate in the management of student activities.

Thanking you for your valuable space,
I am, Sir,
Yours truly,
C.J. TIDMARSH.

QUEENS SURE OF VICTORY McGILL READY

Shag Has Excellent Team Picked.

NOW OR NEVER

Flanagan and Russel Will Not Start — But Will be Ready.

On a field that was soggy and unfit for any fast playing the Senior squad went through the last practice in preparation for the struggle against Queens today. As was predicted several days ago the team has been rearranged in such a manner that it looks like an entirely new outfit and it must be admitted that the new combination looks much better than the one which barely held Varsity last Saturday.

On the back line Anderson, Carroll and Philpots orm a sure catching combination and while they lack the speed that Flin and Jerr Russell would give to it, it is expected that it will hold its own with the much vaunted back field from Kingston. "Bones" Little will be at flying wing which is as much as saying that the over position is in excellent hands "Don" Baillie, whose natural position is at the helm will direct the team and will act in his most famous capacity as the stumbling block to anything that pierces the line. Baillie is without doubt the best secondary defence man in Intercollegiate circles and the joy of his life seems to be the stopping of innumerable bucks and the harder they come the better he likes them. Livskin will snap the ball into play and the team does not seem to have materially weakened by the enforced absence of McGregor. At insides the two McCombe brothers will start and from the way they have been going they should make their berth secure before the game is many minutes old. Two tried and experienced players will hold down the middle wings and there should be no loss of strength in having Lazier in place of Notman.

At outside wings from present indication "Silk" Murphy and Charlie Robertson should be seen, and here appears to be only real weakness on the line-up. Murphy has the experience and speed plus a superb tackling and should be in his element. Robertson however has never played higher than Junior football and it is asking a little too much to want him to shine against Senior material. He is playing one of the most important positions on the team, and if he comes through with flying colors he will deserve and receive more than the ordinary amount of credit and praise.

In reserve Shag has Flanagan and Russell for his back line. "Flin" is out of the hospital, and is limping around in a harness, and it is hardly likely that he will be used although the Coach said that if the occasion warranted it he would undoubtedly shoot him into the fray. Russell although not in as bad shape as "Flin" is not by any means fit and will only be used snasmodically when inches are required to make the necessary yards. Jeff is certainly travelling in the hardest kind of luck as it looked at the beginning of the season as if he was due for a big year and the second game on the schedule finds him a cripple with only a slight chance of playing regularly during the remainder of the season.

Selby Cope and Eddie Crain will be the two principal substitutes after Jeff Notman who is expected to be thrown into the melee in the latter stages where his weight is bound to tell against a tired team. The rest of the subs are not expected to be used much if needed they are used at all and the McGill fortunes will stand or fall on the abilities of those already mentioned.

Queens arrived in town chuck full of confidence. The question with them is not are we going to win, but how much are we going to win by. When it was mildly suggested that perhaps the Red and White team might put up a fairly good opposition, they merely said that any team that couldn't beat Varsity would stand very little chance against the mighty gang from Kingston. It is sincerely to be hoped that Queens take the field harboring these same sentiments, for if they do the battle is half won for us because any team entertaining such ideas usually receive a rude jolt, and finally wake up in time to find themselves on the short end of the score. They have some reason for their confidence, and this some can summed up in the magic name of Leadley who has lived up to advance notices by proving himself a kicker without a peer and an open field runner of more than ordinary ability. But outside of Leadley there is no one on whom Queens can depend to turn back McGill and lead them to the promised land of victory.

McGill must win today if she is to entertain any serious hopes for the pennant. A defeat by Queens would make the Red and White chances take on a decidedly poor aspect and would almost mean their elimination from this years race as they absolutely must win today. With this idea firmly fixed in their minds they will trot out on the field determined not to be beaten. So Queens let'er go, give them every thing you've got and they'll come back one better every time.

FAMOUS PLAY FROM LONDON COMING HERE

John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln."

ORIGINAL CASTE

Proceeds to Settlement — No Change in Prices

"Nobody can dine out in London today and admit without a blush that he has not seen "Abraham Lincoln", Arnold Bennett has said. Montreal is soon to have the opportunity of seeing John Drinkwater's famous play and the first performance, on Hallow E'en, October 31, in His Majesty's Theatre will be a benefit night for the University Settlement.

"Abraham Lincoln" is something more than an English dramatist's conception of a great American —it is a great play. Such has been the verdict, not only of critics but of the general public. Produced first in Birmingham, it was afterwards played in a small theatre on the outskirts of London and the whole city flocked to see it. Recently it has triumphed in the United States and there is every reason to believe that Montreal will be equally as appreciative as other large cities of this masterpiece from the pen of a young Englishman.

Sir Arthur Currie, honorary president of the Settlement who, with Lady Currie, will attend the benefit performance of the play, has expressed his approval of the choice made by the Board of Management of he institution, writing as follows:

" I sincerely hope that all Canadians he can, will go to see John Drinkwater's play "Abraham Lincoln". It portrays in a masterly fashion the most vivid incidents in the life of one of the greatest men who has lived and labored here."

The original New York cast with Frank McGlynn in the leading role will play in the Montreal production.

University students will be particularly welcome at the theatre night of the Settlement, which has always maintained its connection with McGill and a cheering announcement made by the committee in charge of the affair is to vance of the affair is to tshrdlu yaj the effect that there will be no advance over the ordinary prices for balcony seats. Tickets are now on sale at the Windsor Hotel and will be on hand after the 27th, at the box office of the theatre.

THE PLAYERS OF ARTS-LAW ONLY VICTORS

Defeat Commerce by Slight Margin

GOOD RUGBY.

Science and Medicine Battle to a Draw.

Interfaculty Rugby got away to a good start yesterday with two exciting closely contested games. The combined Arts and Law team played Commerce, in a game which resulted in a win for Arts - Law by 2-0. The second contest between Meds and Science prooved exceedingliy fast and exciting ending in a draw. Neither side were able to call forth the punch necessary to score.

Twice Meds were backed to their touch-line, and both times they defeated the efforts of Science to carry the ball over.

There were numerous spectacular plays and a better style of rugby then has been seen in Interfaculty contests for some years back. Some of the players were seen in action for the first time and displayed form that should later win a place on a University team. On acount of the muddy field there were many slips. Fumbles were frequent and also offsides, all four teams being penalized on this account. Meds perhaps will have a few more stiffs as a result of the games.

Science kicked off in the Meds-Science game, Meds in their third down gained yards and followed this up, with two more games of yards before being forced to kick. Play was about 30 yards from the Science touch-line when Science got possession. In their second down came the most spectacular run of the game when a Science man got away for a gain of 60 yards. Science gained yards but in the next down Meds secured the ball in a fumble. Both sides desored to kicking neither side gaining much ground in the end. The period ended with the ball in Med territory. Score 0-0

Second Quarter —Science gained yards. In their down Meds lost 5 yards through an overthrow by the snap-back and were forced to kick. Science gain yards and then kicked into touch. Meds returned the kick and Science carried the ball to about 5 yards of touch. This was Science's big chance but they lacked the punch to take advantage of it the Med line held. Meds kicked and in a fumble secured. Kicked again getting the ball out of the danger zone. Half-time came with still no score.

Third Quarter —Meds kicked off. An exchange of kicks follwed. Meds fumbled once and Science secured. Both sides were penalized for offsides. Science blocked a try for a field goal. The period ended with the score still 0 - 0.

Last Quarter —Both teams were showing the strain of play. Science were at one time playing with 10 men and put up a plucky fight considering their handicap. Neither side was able to get in a position to score despite their efforts and the whistle blew with no score.

Lineup Meds: Snap back Fullerton; Quarter: Roches; Middles Sloan Insides: —Sherman, Bride, Outsides — Matthews, Walker; Halves: —Bole, Gressick, Chisholm; Flying Wing; Hamilton; Subs — Lynchfi Abey, Brown, Science —Snapback —Joslin; Quarter —Smith; Middles —Almond, Moore Insides —MacSilliets, MrGregor; Outsides —Squire, Dion; Halves —Whittall, Williamson, Olive; Flying Wing — W. Hamilton. Subs —Taylor, James Rumple, officials —Cline Mathewson, Nofm. Wallace.

The Arts-Law team won from Commerce but did not show a decided superiority. Commerce is still much to be reckoned with, and the Daily is informed that with perhaps a few changes and hard practices they hope to reverse todays result. This is the first time a team has been entered from Commerce and it speaks well for the spirit and importance of this department. Arts-Law winners of last years title displayed good form and will benefit from their experience to-day.

Arts won the toss and kicked off. Commerce gained yards twice but lost the ball on a fumble. Arts carried the play inside Commerce 20 yd. line and tried for a field goal. The ball hit the cross bar and in the ensuing scramble Arts retained possession. They kicked into touch for a rouge. End of 1st quarter: Score Arts-Law 1; Commerce 0. 2nd Quarter: Arts puts through an end run which carried the ball about 3 yards from touch. But they lacked the necessary punch to gain a touch. Commerce line held. Both teams now resorted to kicks and Arts finally placed one back of the Commerce line which resulted in their second point. Half-time came with play about the center of the field. Score Arts-Law 2 Comm. 0.

3rd Quarter —Play was rather slow both sides kicking and neither gaining much ground. Arts were penalized three times for offsides. No change in the score.

Last Quarter —This was a continuance of the kicking duel. The softness of the field hindered running back with the ball.

Play shifted from one end of the field to the other. When the whistle blew play was in Arts territory, with Commerce pressing hard.

Final score—Arts-Law, 2; Com., 0.

Line up: Commerce—Snap back, Taprell: Quarter, Winslow: middles, McMann, Windatt; insides, Duncan, Mitchell; outsides, Hamilton, Holland; halves, Goldie, Connor, Campbell; flying wing, Finley; subs., Kersley, Caswell.

Arts-Law —Snap-back, McDermid; quarter, Gardner; middles, Elliott, Lidstone; Insides, Webster, Hampson; outsides, Ogilvy, Falconer; halves, Chauvin, Pierce (capt.), Hall; flying wing, Anderson; subs, Harris, Armstrong, Smith, Chade, Anderson, Reid, Davis, Blundell, Stone.

THE ORPHEUM

Patrons of the Orpheum theatre will learn with pleasure of the return of Mr. William Naughton, the popular leading man of last year's company, who will again occupy his position at the head of the organization, and who will make his re-entry on Monday afternoon next in one of Fiske O'Hara's biggest successes, "Heart's Desire," a charming Irish comedy, entirely devoid of controversial material, from the pen of Adelaide Matthews and Anna Nichols.

In the role of Sir Harry O'Neil, Mr. Naughton has an excellent opportunity for the display of those talents that have endeared him to so many theatre-goers in this city—talents not only of acting but as a singer, for he will render several of Fiske O'Hara's very latest song successes during the comedy.

The story of the play is one of mistaken identity, and affords a pleasant relief from the customary political propaganda and racial prejudice found in so many Irish plays. It abounds in cleverly written comedy, and is full of amusing and romantic situations underlying the principal theme. The love affair of Sir Lariy with Mollie, the ward of the late Sir Thomas O'Neil, is portrayed with rich Irish humor, and the happy ending of the story enhances its interest, which is cosmopolitan, for everybody loves a lover, to-day, as in bygone years.

THE PRINCESS.

Following many brilliant successes in important legitimate roles, Miss Josephine Victor, one of the most talented of the younger actresses on the American stage, will be the feature attraction at the Princess Theatre next week, presentiing "Juliet and Romeo," a romance in four scenes by Harry Wagstaff Gribble. Miss Victor is a fine dramatic actress, and has always presented plays of the highest calibre. Since she has been on this continent her talents have been seen both on the legitimate stage and in vaudeville in many plays by eminent authors. Miss Victor's dramatic talents are undisputable and she ranks high among the really fine actresses of the day. In "Juliet and Romeo" she is supported by a specially selected cast, including Hartley Power.

Howard Langford, a musical comedy star, with many successes to his record, will appear with Miss Ina Frederick in a song skit entitled "Shopping," based on the humors of the type known as porfessional shoppers in a "shopping bee." Both are artists of experience and admitted ability. Glenn and Jenkins are a pair of comedians who have brought the railroad porter into fame as a stage character, and they succeed in making "Working for the Railroad" one of the best travesties to be found in the theatre.

Jim McWilliams is a pianist and a comedian of the "nut" variety, and his eccentric methods result only in a burst of clean and wholesome comedy. Blanche and Jimmie Creighton, with their rural act called, "Mudtown Vaudeville," contribute much to the comedy element of the bill. This pair show themselves most capable entertainers, with a line of talk that is wholesome and refreshing.

La Pilarcia Tio, Court Dancers to the King of Spain, will present an elaborate dancing novelty, which is handsomely staged and delightfully presented. Billy and Eddy Gorman will be heard in a fine repertoire of exclusive and popular songs under the tttle of "Topics of the Day." They both possess voices above the average and a striking stage appearanec.

The Ruth Howell Duo, Premiere Aerialists, will offer a fast and sensational offering which is skillful in the extreme, but nevertheless always picturesque and executed with perfect ease, which completes the porgramme.

BLISS CARMAN TO VISIT MONTREAL.

Lovers of poetry will be interested to hear that Bliss Carman, called by Arthur Stringer, "the sweetest lyrist of all America," will give a reading from his own poems under the auspices of the Canadian Authors' Association, on the evening of Friday, October 28th, in the ballroom at the Ritz Carlton.

McGill University, at the recent Convention, bestowed the honorary degree of LL.D. as tribute to the quality of his poetry and his outstanding position in the world of letters, but this will be the first opportunity that Montrealers will have of hearing such verses as Low Tide on Grand Pre from the lips of the poet himself. Bliss Carman comes of U. E. L. descent, and was brought up in a markedly literary atmosphere at Federicton, New Brunswick, with his cousins Charles D. G. Roberts, Theodore Goodridge Roberts and Mrs. Elizabeth Macdonald — all of whom have achieved distinction as writers.

Graduating at the University of New Brunswick, Bliss Carman studied for a year in Edinburgh, practised engineering and taught school — then edited the New York Independent from 1890—2. His first volume "Low Tide on Grand Pre" appeared in 1893, and at once marked him out as a leader in Canadian poetry. Since then he has issued many further volumes, both of poetry and prose, notably "Ballads of Lost Haven," "Songs from Vagabondia" (in collaboration with Richard Hovey), "Pipes of Pan," "Sappho," "April Airs," His collected works in two volumes have just been published by McClelland & Stewart, of Toronto. From Montreal, Bliss Carman will proceed to Winnipeg and the West on a lecture tour. This will be his first visit to Western Canada.

FENCING CLUB TO BEGIN PRACTICE

Mr. Raimandi Will Again be Instructor.

A preliminary meeting of the Fencing Club was held yesterday afternoon, at which several important matters were decided. It was announced that the services of Mr. Raimandi, last year's efficient instructor, had been again secured for this year.

C. R. Fielding, representative of the B., W., and F. Executive, addressed the meeting, discussing the question of securing suitable quarters for this years' work. While nothing definite has been decided about this, there are several places in view, and by Tuesday next, when the first practice will be held, one of these will have been selected. One thing is certain, that better quarters than were used last year will be secured.

Toronto have Hail House in which to fence, and if McGill is to compete with her we must have a suitable place to practice.

Besides suitable quarters it is necessary to have a big turnout of new men. The date of the Assault-at-Arms has already been set, so if the newcomers wish to be able to compete in this event they will have to start practicing immediately.

The practice days are Tuesday and Thursday, from five to seven in the evening. So all interested in fencing be out next Tuesday.

GLEE CLUB MEETING CHANGED TO TUESDAY

On account of the Rooters' practice in the Union yesterday afternoon, the Re-organization meeting of the Glee Club was unable to be held, much to the regret of those who had gathered for the purpose.

There was considerable confusion as to the room in which the meeting was to be held, and to obviate this difficulty it was decided to hold the next meeting in Strathcona Hall on Tuesday next, at 5 o'clock. On this day it is hoped that there will be no conflicting meetings, and that all those present to-day and many more besides will turn out and give their enthusiastic support towards the formation of a Glee Club at McGill.

Last year the Prince of Wales Hotel enjoyed a great amount of student patronage, for the simple reason that we were able to offer good food at a reasonable price.

The situation is unchanged this season.

MEETING OF DENTISTRY UNDERGRADS

Dean Thornton Addresses an Enthusiastic Audience

MUCH DISCUSSION

Many Important Matters Thrashed Out

The serious first meeting of the Dental Undergraduate Society, held last evening in the Medical Building was conspicuous for the amount of enthusiasm shown. Despite the fact that the Sophomores and Freshmen were absent owing to a rush, a full attendance of the remaining two years partly filled the large assembly hall.

The first part of the evening was taken up with business. Elections for a representative of sports from each year were held. The following were elected: first year —Cool: second year, Charland: third year, Kent: fourth year, Harris.

Following this, a heated but friendly discussion took place over the right of the present president, A. J. Macmillan, to hold office. The trouble, briefly stated is this: In the election for president last term the present third year returned men were to be considered men with fourth year standing. As such, a third year man, Macmillan, was elected president.

This term, that standing was revoked, and consequently the fourth year men demanded a new election. Many and various were the arguments pro and con, and much excitement ensued. This was finally settled. The present president A. J. Macmillan, became vice-president and nominations for president are open until next Wednesday.

Dean Thornton then addressed the society. He pleaded for closer co-operation between the student and his chosen profession. In all his remarks the Dean interspersed that rare humour and wit illustrative of his points, for which he is so justly famous. He then briefly outlines the history of the Dental Faculty. He stated that in 1908 there were only two graduates but by last year the total had reached 92. Once being half dead, the Dental Faculty of today is a power at McGill. Its influence is becoming greater and greater and the students must help to increase it more and more.

He then gave the undergraduates some sound advice appealing to them to have important men of the Dental profession come come and address them, and to have frequent social gatherings.

In closing, Dean Thornton wanted it clearly understood that he was the students' friend: that he would stand behind them, and that if they should ever get into trouble, to come to him. His final words were: "Let each man try to obtain his own full stature".

Vice-President Macmillan then invited all present to partake of the refreshments provided.

SCIENCE '23 WINS HARRIERS RACE

Setphens Comes First — Best Team for Years in Sight.

About two weeks ago no small amount of despair rested in the minds of the harrier club officials, when they regarded the results of their efforts to raise a championship team from McGill this season. As a consequence nothing has been left undone to improve the raw material which has been turning out in good style. Last night however there was manifested a mighty fine spirit of determination when Gordie Stephens won the inter-class harrier race for Science '23.

The weather was rather cold to say the least, but despite the fact a record entry list was received, and one of the best competitions of the year started. The runners jogged off in a bunch but before the "white-clad" crowd topped the Pine Avenue serpentine, Stephens showed that he was out for business and more than out-distanced his rivals. Champion of Sci. '23 also gave most of the students the surprise of the day. He has been out with the club but twice, and yesterday gave his class-mate a hot run for first place.

On Monday the final practice run will be held from the stadium at 5 p.m., when it is expected that every person who has been out on the road this fall will put on the finishing touches for Wednesday's big event the inter-faculty race. Last year Varsity had over 100 entries in their interfaculty race, making the occasion not only one far team's selection but for interfaculty competition.

The following is the way in which the first 10 racers returned last evening:

1.— G. R. Stephens Sci. '23.
2.— Champion Sci. '23.
3.— Willoughby Comm. '23.
4.— Copland Arts '23.
5.— P. Gross Sci. '25.
6.— MacNaughton Arts '25.
7.— Alexander Arts '24.
8.—Morris Com '23.
9.— Hall Arts '24.
10.— Wilson Arts '23.

Officers Appointed — Great Encouragement for Murray Brooks

The renewed interest of the graduates in "Old McGill" has made itself manifest in the re-organization of what has been known as the "McGill Mission." This organization was formed several years ago for the linking up of McGill graduates on foreign mission fields, and for the financial support of two McGill men in Ceylon.

Last night, at a meeting of the General Committee of the Mission, officers were appointed as follows:

Chairman—Mr. J. P. Anglin.
Treasurer—Mr. C. A. Hale.
Cor. Secretary—Mr. J. A. Coote.
Rec. Secretary—Mr. J. G. McKay.
Assoc Secretary—Mr. E. Peden.

Plans were also laid for pushing forward the work of the Mission. This includes the raising of a budget of $10,000 per annum. The presence of Murray Brooks, who has served for eleven years in the Ceylon work, has been greatly appreciated by those who have been interested in this phase of McGill enterprise. Mr. Brooks is soon to return to his task in Ceylon, encouraged by his contacts with many friends during the Re-union period, nad carrying with him the good-will of all.

CHESS CLUB TO HOLD A TOURNEY

Dr. O. Maass to be Honorary President

The Chess Club has been extremely fortunate in obtaining Dr. Maass as its Honorary President for this year.

Arrangements have been nearly completed in connection with the tournament, a goodly number of men have signified their intention to follow up chess this year. Of some of the new members very little is known of their playing ability, but some have shown signs of being very efficient players. There apparently will be no dearth of men to take part in the chess league this year, which we hope to carry off as successfully as we did last year.

The executive has been making efforts to arrange a match with the Professors, a tradition worthy of continuance.

The executive especially requests that the following men report to Mr. K. W. Hunter on Monday night, so that the final handicaps may be arranged for the tournament. Freedman, Stone, B. Cowan, Epstein, Davidson, Surger, Garelick, D. G. McKenzie, Bethel, V. G. Notman.

Any other new men who sign the list in the Union before Monday should be at the meeting on Monday night.

It is hoped that prizes will be awarded to successful competitors.

The committee of Ciro's have extended the privileges of the club to Juniors and Seniors to The Dansant on Saturdays, 4.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m., and those wishing to attend would do well to telephone their reservations to Uptown 8975. Ciro's trio will supply the music and a pleasant afternoon is assured.

PEPYS AT McGILL

Friday. Oct. 21st.

To my tailors this day to be measured for a new suit of clothes and they like to become me very well indeed. After a weary day an express arrived late from the King's Towne telling how our men who run there at a sort of fair outstripped all who came up against them. Very glad thereat. It seems too that one Mr. David Johnston, with whom I have the honour of some slight acquaintance, did run at most prodigious speed in spite of the foulness and great quantity of mire on the place where they were at. A most strange thing happened this night. Coming down from out of the college to sup I beheld a great concourse of clerkes with lanthornes and rush-lights who set upon certain others as they came out from the Physyck Building. It is no small honour to me that I took no least bit of fear thereat, but putting on a guise of sterness I questioned one of them as to his doings, and wheher they were prentices from the shops that they had so engaged at fisticuffs. To which he gave back. "You keep outer this, beau". or some such words. So I thanked him for his courtesy and went my way, pleased that he should have known in me a person of quality, for "beau" is a word that the Frenche use to mean some such thing as "gallant sir" in the Englishe tongue. Mine hostess of the lodging-house is a hateful woman, and quite lacking in respect. She goes by name of Mistress O'Grady, which hath not to me a good English sound to it.

ENJOYABLE PARTY FOR THE R.V.C.

Fair Damsels Play the Evolution of Man

S. C. A. GUESTS

Most Successful — Welcome to Freshettes — Refreshments Served.

Yesterday afternoon the girls of R. V. C. and the Department of Physical Education were entertained at a "Party" given by the S. C. A., at which the Freshettes were the guests of honour. Mr. Murray Brooks delighted everybody with a song which was heartily encored. He responded with a very amusing parody on "Annie Laurie."

Then, under the able management of Miss E. Snider, two "stunts" were put on, in order to show the girls the sort of fun which is part of the program at the Summer Conferences. The first of the stunts was a series of four scenes, showing prehistoric, past, present and future man. Miss Gillies made a realistic wild man, and annexed his wife, Miss Klachen, in the approved cave-man fashion. In the next scene Miss Slack and Miss Grigg, dressed in costumes of the past, danced a gavotte. In the third tableau Miss Law made a very etching "vamp", and quite captivated the young man who occupied the other end of the park bench. —Miss Baskan. If the fourth presentation was a real portrait of the future, we would advise the formation of a Society for the Protection of Men. Miss Fry certainly gave a formidable characterization of future woman; when she found that part of her day's program, as noted in her memo was "to marry", and forthwith asked that plaintive little man. Miss Lorence Evans, if he would care to marry her, the tone of voice in which the latter replied "Thank You," was quite touching.

The second stunt was a presentation of "A Spanish Tragedy", by Miss Jean Henderson, and her exceedingly irate father, played by Miss Marjorie Pick. The father cruelly separated lovers, and locked his daughter up in a high tower.

That is was a tower, a placard told us, and it was high, because— but that can't be gone into. However, the heroine leaped from the topmost window of the tower into her lover's arms; the father, upon discovering their elopment, threw himself from the same window, but not having any lover's arms to leap into, he killed himself. The daughter returned, and when she found her "padro" dead she again ascended the tower, and again flung herself from the window, this time landing on her father's body, killing herself instantly. By this time the Spanish cavalier had returned, and upon seeing the sad sight, resolved to follow his sweethearts example; but he thought he had first better look up his memorandum, and see if he was departing this world leaving any engagements unfulfilled. Wold joy! he had a date —which he sensibly resolved to keep, and departed forwith, waving a gay good-bye to his "quondam" sweetheart and her once irate father.

During the intermission between these two stunts, Miss Kerr, president of the S. C. A., outlined its plans for the year, and heartily welcomed the freshettes.

The serving of refreshments was very capably superintended by Miss Sharples. After one or two dances, Hail! Alma Mater" was sung, and the McGill yell brought a very pleasant afternoon to a close.

A THING OR TWO FOR YOU TO THINK OF.

The expenses of the office alone are far in advance of the total amount subscribed by the undergraduates.

Add to this the expenses of the other services and consider the unkeep cost of Strathcona Hall, and it will readily appear that the share the students put in is small compared with what they get out of the Hall.

Unfortunately, the Association is such that its work cannot be carried out by noisy publicity, and thus only too few men really know what the organization is like and is for. For instance, how many men know that the S. C. M., is an undergraduate organization, controlled by undergraduates and supposedly financed by them? And how many realize just what a small share they really take in their own support as an organization? That no outside body has any say in the administration or thought of the Movement, that it is not only undenominational but does not exact nor even encourage orthodoxy among its members?.

These are a few things that might be thought over until Monday, when further information about the Association will be given in these columns.

TENNIS FINALS HELD YESTERDAY BY R. V. C.

The Inter-class Singles Tournament was played off yesterday afternoon on the McGill courts between Miss Ted Rough and Miss Carol Robertson. The game was very closely contested and was won by Miss Carol Robertsan, 9-6 after some most brilliant rallying. Miss Robertson thus stands champion of R. V. C., tennis players for this session, carrying the honour to the Sophomore year. Three cheers for Miss Robertson and class '24!
